Buccaneer pays tribute to Mr. Robert Ellis

Interpreting music . . . making it beautiful . . . conveying its thrill to students . . . helping them understand . . . understanding, too . . . being both a friend and a teacher . . . loving his profession, his students and his music . . . for these qualities . . . with equal admiration and love . . . we dedicate the 1969 Buccaneer to Mr. Robert Ellis.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Rosalind Brooks, Chairman of our Foreign Language Department, passed away on Easter morning. I know each of you feel the loss as keenly as I do. Our profession, our school, and our hearts will never be quite the same because we have lost a teacher, a member of our original faculty, and one we all love. One tends to think of her love of Latin, her students, and her school. I recognize all of these things, but I remember other things that at the time did not seem so significant.

an experienced teacher taking a young boy under her wings his first year in the system—and how she continued to call him "boy" throughout the years—

a new car but no driver's license—passing the driving test stories of the wonderful love she shared with her husband and how her eyes lit up when she talked about how it happened on the Duke Campus—the love and pride that were so evident in her stories of her daughter and her mother her interest in the activities of each group at school —each faculty member's activity, each student group, each new member of the faculty, that all shared her love and concern

She is departed from our midst, but her love and beauty will all remain a part of each of us that knew her, and her influence will be carried on through each of us.

Philip Johnson Weaver
April 18, 1913—March 15, 1969

Philip J. Weaver—Teacher, Superintendent, Educator.

Philip J. Weaver was superintendent of the Greensboro Public Schools and, therefore, was our symbol of leadership—the top man of our educational system. He performed this function with dispatch and professional skill, but many men handle their jobs with skill and efficiency. Mr. Weaver surpassed the plateau of just being the superintendent of our schools. He made each person in our system know that their task was a vital link in the education of each student. We burdened him with our problems; we performed our roles continually drawing on his strength, his vision, and his support. Although education in Greensboro was his responsibility, his influence upon education spread throughout North Carolina and the United States.

We were his students and his teachers, and we were the best because he said we were. We will not dwell on the sadness of our loss, but reflect upon the tremendous blessing we have shared by having known and loved Philip J. Weaver, a teacher, a superintendent, but above all an Educator.

Problems are

With an enrollment of approximately 1,950 students, the adminstration faced new problems in the supervision of the work of the teachers and the activities of students.

Under the leadership of the school board, led by Mr. P.J. Weaver, superintendent of the Greensboro City Schools, and backed by an interested PTSA, Mr. Robert Newton strove for effective coordination of the staff, faculty,

Mr. Donald Lee Stowe, assistant principal, continued his job with attention to both his diverse administrative duties and to the activities of the student body.

Financial records, clerical work, and routine duties were managed by the secretarial staff.

Among the changes enacted by the administration was the alternation of testing days to give the subject teachers a better schedule.

Records, schedules, and tests keep counselors busy

This year due to the enlargement of the student body, the counselors were kept unusually busy adjusting schedules. After many days and nights of working, they had a schedule for every Page student.

Having accomplished their first task of the year, the counselors concentrated on testing the aptitude and achievement of each student through PSAT, SAT, SCAT-STEP, and National Merit tests.

They also gave aid to students in choosing a college.

Teachers and students aid new attendance dean

Mr. Morris, attendance dean, counseled both girls and boys on the importance of being on time and attending classes regularly.

Student assistants were chosen from applications. Each applicant stated his reasons for wanting to work in the attendance office and gave a teacher's name as reference.

Several teachers helped during the day by filling out admit cards and approving excuses to leave school.

Students tardy to class were disciplined by their subject teacher while students late to homeroom were required to stay for an afternoon detention hall.

Searching for a reference book provides Albert Perrin with an interesting study hall.

Students using the library as a center for reading and study throughout the year found that it met their needs in both areas.

Starting the year with approximately 15,000 books and new audiovisual equipment added in the spring of 1968, the librarians used these aids to help the students do better research.

Audio-visual equipment and a supply of films and records were used frequently by teachers in their classrooms for instruction.

Thirty-one students served as library assistants, and two students were employed as assistants to the librarians.

Seniors study

In one final year, the Seniors concentrated on a depth study of communication in their English course. Critical and analytical thinking was the main focus.

They sought to achieve perfection in narration, description, exposition, and argument so they might have mastery in any and all of these areas.

Dramas, short stories, poetry, essays, biography, and the novel were the main springboards for evaluation of reaction, thinking, and expression. Works of great authors were examined with relation to past and present.

Two of the many books that Juniors were seen carrying were The Rise of the American Nation or History of a Free People. Since American history was required for all Juniors, students learned how their government was established.

Mans' past was traced from the era of the caveman to the cultures of today.

Special reports from class members, discussions, and films added to the study. Reading assignments paralleled the text. Emphasis on current events showed the connection between events, past and present.

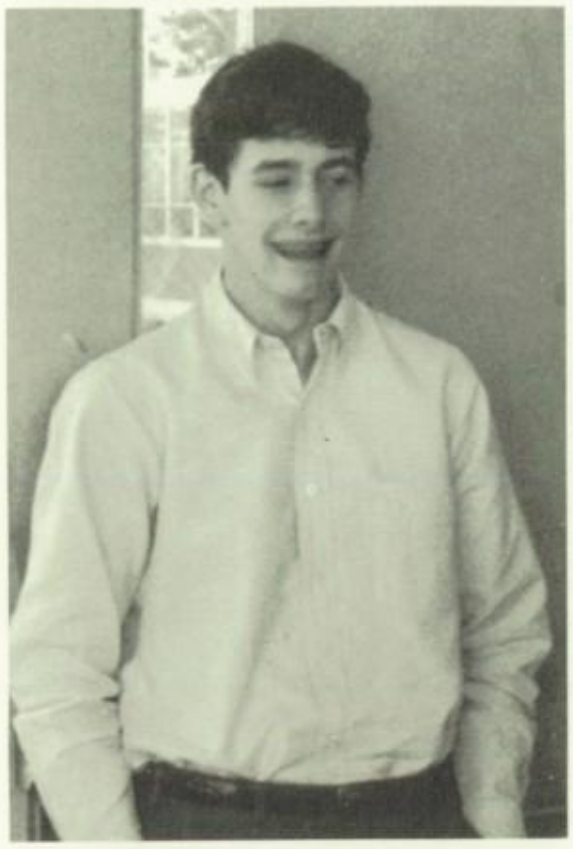
Outstanding Seniors are recognized for ability



EDWARD ABRAMS

Possessed with quiet, friendly ways, Ed always makes the stranger in a crowd feel at ease. His determination to do his best has brought him recognition as a swimmer and as a scholar. His wit and casual remarks have brightened many classrooms at Page.

ROSIE BALDWIN

Rosie's constant smile sheds light on the darkest moments. With her spirit and enthusiasm, she is continuously cheering the team on from the sidelines. No matter what she does, Rosie puts her whole self into it.

Contributions in leadership, service, school spirit, art, athletics, drama, and scholarship comprised the qualification for choosing the 1969 Outstanding Seniors.

During their three years at Page, each student became more accomplished, more recognized, more deserving of praise than others. Each brought new ideas and abilities to Page.

Recognition began with the nomination of these Seniors by class members, who gave a specific qualification for each student.

Seniors and faculty members then voted for twenty of the nominees, the results producing the 1969 Outstanding Seniors.

MARCIA ALTVATER

Lyrical grace, self-assurance, undying determination, and hard work have brought Marcia success on the stage, in the classroom, and in her life. Her talent in music and dance compliment her down-to-earth frankness. By being totally involved in all she pursues, Marcia shows her true dedication to Page.

HENRY BROWN

Henry Brown is an artist in the truest sense of the word. His originality coupled with the desire to create have compelled him to make outstanding contributions in the field of art. Henry, a realist, expresses himself and reveals his attitudes toward life in his works.

and service

ANNE DORSETT

Having fun while working diligently is a unique ability that Anne possesses. A warm smile and vivacious personality enliven her work that often goes unnoticed. Her eagerness to be a friend as well as make them has added to her success at Page.

DICK CURRAN

A giant of a man, Dick excels on the football field as well as on the basketball court. He is characterized by a winning smile and handsome appearance. His easy, carefree manner in the classroom is enjoyed by both students and teachers.

CHRISSIE COOKE

Chrissie tackles each of her goals with a persistent stubborness that will not allow her to give up. Her antics and playfullness have brightened many class periods at Page. Her serious manner has enabled her to be successful in the more important phases of life.

ED GALLOWAY

To stay calm in a tough situation is not easily accomplished. Yet Ed has mastered the art quite well. A combination of wit, intelligence, and concern for others proves that he always has control of every situation. His creative mind can find a solution to any problem.

LIBBI HENSON

Whether it be for the school, the church, or the community, the desire to serve is the compelling force which has led Libbi to make outstanding contributions. Originality and enthusiasm are displayed in her work, and her gregarious nature is enjoyed by all.

KRIS HOWELL

With her quiet, vibrant personality, Kris easily charms those she meets and wins an abundance of close friends. Her basic friendliness and consideration for others as well as her beauty and spirit distinguish her among her peers.

JUDY LAMBETH

Judy's enthusiastic promotion of school spirit has helped boost the athletic teams to many victories. Not only are her contributions revealed on the field or the court, but also in the classroom. Her vivacious personality is attractive to everyone.

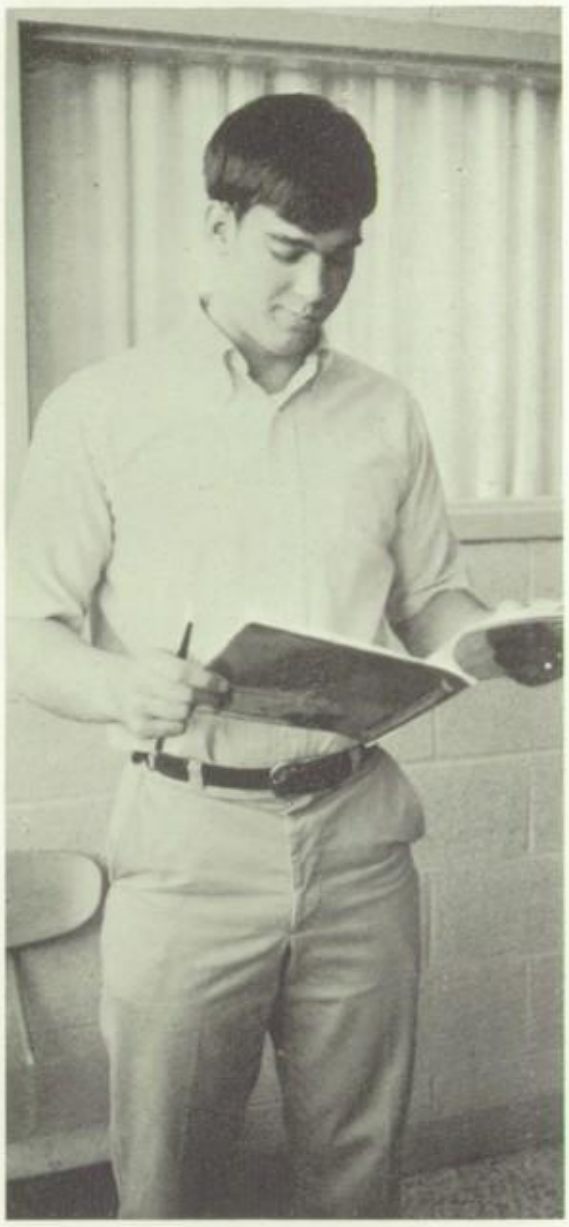
ROBIN HUDSON

Robin is both a young woman and a little girl, characterized by serious dedication as well as wide-eyed eagerness. Possessed with a keen mind, she excels in all areas of classroom study. Her outstanding work for GYC has brought her well-deserved recognition throughout the city.

Selected seniors use abilities wisely

RICHARD MATTHEWS

With quiet reserve, Richard accepts each challenge that confronts him. He has disciplined himself to speak only after much thought and then, not dogmatically. Strong in every sense of the word, Richard is ready to defend his beliefs and follow his own judgement.



GARTH MILLER

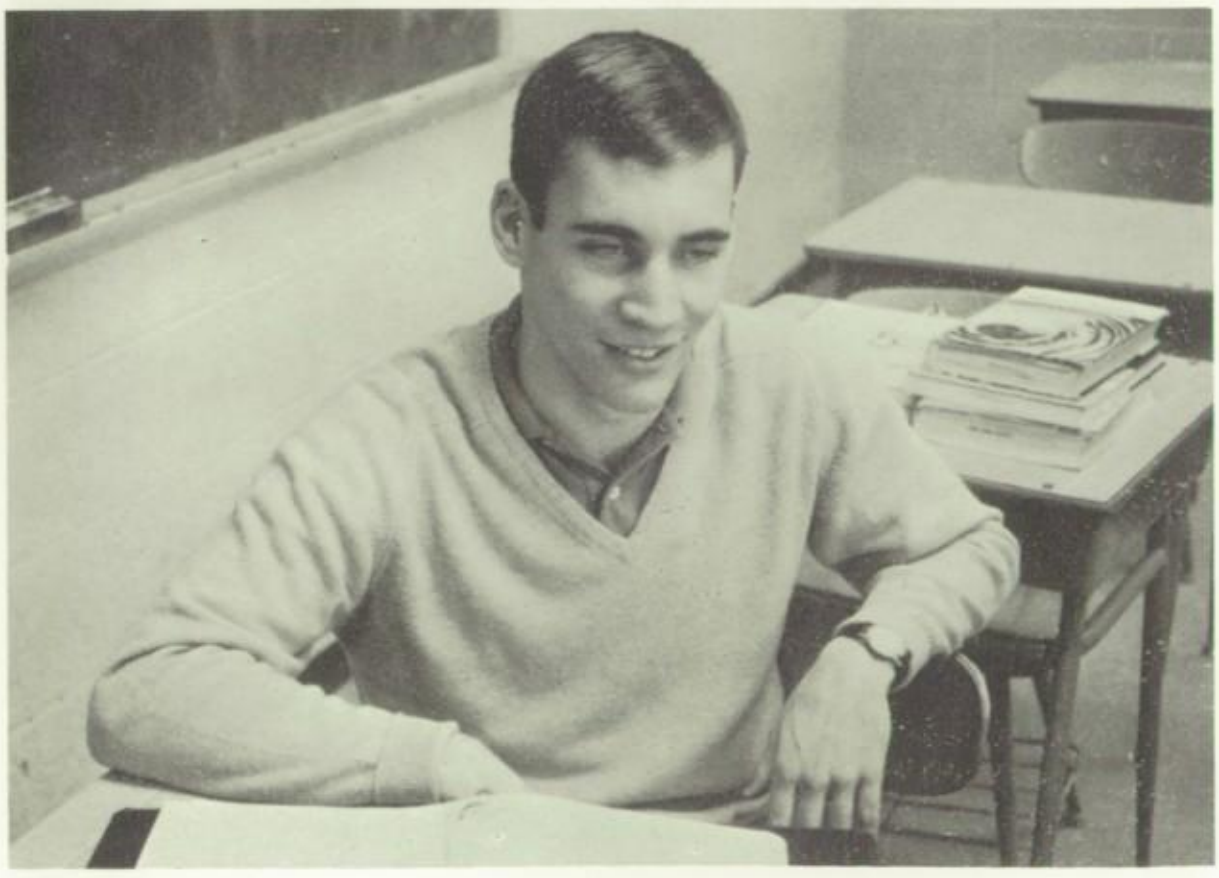
Garth made the transition from follower to leader with unusual ease and serious determination. On the football field he showed the same skill and enthusiasm. Garth's considerate and easy-going nature remains unchanged despite the success he has gained in all areas of his life.

GWEN NOBLE

Determination is characteristically present in all phases of Gwen's well-rounded life. Her warm personality and affection for people continually influence those who know her.

DREW RICHARDSON

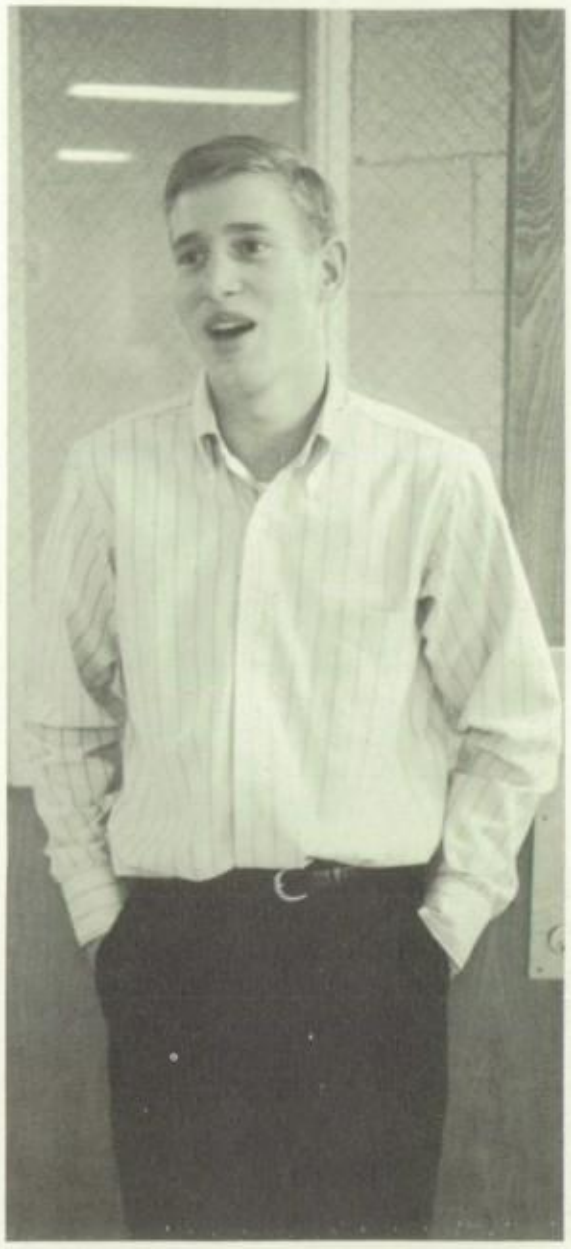
A humble, yet dignified school leader, Drew's unshakeable convictions have brought him merited acknowledgement. His incentive for learning allows him to set his own goals; goals which his quiet manner and self-composure will help him accomplish.



Class of '69 honors twenty Outstanding Seniors

RUDY SCHWEIZER

Rudy's easy-going personality enables him to get along with the many he comes in contact with. He has challenged the world of the sciences and left no problem unsolved. His wit plus intelligence have produced many interesting pictures for the school publications. All in all, Rudy is a very remarkable person who leaves nothing undone.



STEVE SHARPE

A shy smile is the first thing one notices about Steve, yet his actions on the football field show that he can get tough if the need arises. When traffic problems occur around the school, he knows how to handle the situation. Steve's shyness is only skin deep; for, when he believes in something, he will make sure others hear his opinion.

DEBBIE TRULL

Underneath the quiet exterior lies a vibrant personality that portrays Debbie. Her spirit and enthusiasm are never lacking in anything that she attempts. She has served Page with a willingness that will be remembered.

REID TAYLOR

Beneath the boyish grin which typifies Reid Taylor lies a mind: serious, alert, and alive. His love for music is equalled only by his talent in that field. The casual friendliness of his manner is noticed by the many people who come in contact with him.

Kris Howell reigns as Homecoming Queen

Kris Howell, Homecoming Queen.

This year's Homecoming festivities underwent many changes due to the increased number of students. For the first time there were two sophomore and junior representatives and sixteen senior girls on the court.

Saturday night Page met East Forsyth and during half-time the Queen and Maid of Honor were crowned. Each of the Homecoming beauties toured the field in a car and then was presented to the school.

Festivities featured Queen Kris Howell and Judy Lambeth her Maid of Honor. Later that night all were present at an open house at Page.

Shadows play at homecoming

The 1968 Homecoming Dance honored the Homecoming Queen, Kris Howell, and her court. Students enjoyed listening and dancing to the music of the Shadows.

The highlight of the dance was the formal announcement of the 1968 Senior Superlatives. The twenty seniors were honored during the intermission of the dance.

Open houses feature top bands

Several exciting open houses were sponsored by this year's Youth Recreation Committee. These events were held after home games during the football and basketball seasons.

Page students had the opportunity to enjoy several outstanding bands. Some of the featured groups included the "Checkmates," the "Fabulous Generals," the "Noon Balloon," and the "Accents."

YRC members decorated the auditorium lobby for the open houses, to add to the enjoyment of those attending.

Special decorations were made for the Twerp Dance, which highlighted the activities during the basketball season.

Students vie for class positions

By the end of April candidates were choosing boosters and making plans for skits as they campaigned for various school offices. Self-nominations were encouraged and as usual many Page students participated.

In May the results of the junior and senior elections were announced, but the sophomores had to wait until October. Then, accompanied by colorful posters and typical Page enthusiasm, the new officers were selected.

In planning assembly themes, a committee of representatives from each homeroom worked with the student council vice-president. Programs were presented in two consecutive periods, with half of the student body attending each.

Among several musical performances were a Christmas choral production and a concert by the N.C. State University men's glee club. Another assembly featured foreign exchange students staying in North Carolina.

Awards commend achievements

Awards for the '67-'68 year recognized achievements in scholarship, athletics, music, and service. Outstanding students received trophies, plaques, and scholarships.

Recipients accepted their awards from students and members of the community. A highlight of the Awards assembly was the induction of Mr. Luther R. Medlin into the Pirate Club.

Seniors reveal mixed emotions at graduation

Graduation 1968 climaxed three years of fun, hard work, and preparation for the jubilant seniors.

Again this year the exercises were held at Greensboro Auditorium where Dr. Medlin, Mr. Newton, and the Reverend Gerald C. Primm delivered their memorable addresses.

After fine performances by both choir and band, trophies for outstanding scholarship and leadership were awarded.

At the conclusion of the night's activities individual diplomas were presented, and the graduating Pirates realized that this would be the last meeting of the class of '68.

Chrissie Cooke and staff bring changes to PbyP

Pages by Page made a number of significant improvements this year. First semester publications averaged six pages each. For the first time the staff broke the old record of twelve issues in one year.

The subscriptions totalled three times that of the paper two years before, as the staff continued the tradition of change and innovation.

PbP has cleaned up "Pirate Peers," spiced-up their editorials, created interesting news, and written humorous features and sports news. At mid-semester there was a change in PbP advisors, from Miss Guhl to Mrs. Faust.

Anchor Club places tree in Plaza

Anchor Club was kept very busy this year with numerous projects. Among these were sending Friendship Kits to the Vietnamese children, helping with Project Sharp at Windsor Community Center, and appropriating money to place a tree in the Yough Plaza.

By giving away red and white ballons at the Page-Grimsley game, decorating G-wing during Pep Week, selling Page pennants, and giving away red hats at home games, the Anchor Club boosted the dwindling spirit at Page.

To end a very successful year, the Anchor Club sponsored a booth at the annual Teen-Age Carnival.

Civinettes sponsor foster child

Civinettes were active this year in their services to Page and the community. Their services to Page included decorating cars for each home game, and keeping the Auditorium Lobby Events Calendar up to date.

They served the community by collecting for UNICEF and sending ditty bags to the men in Viet Nam. One of their most important projects was sponsoring a foster child in Saigon. The Civinettes financed their projects by selling Pollywogs and Pralines.

They attended the annual Civitan-Civinette Convention in Durham in April.

Together with the Civinettes, the Junior Civitans sponsored Pep Week preceeding the Page-Grimsley game, and decorated cars with red and white streamers before all home games.

Their "Get Out and Vote Campaign" for the Sophomore election was the most successful ever considering the number of votes cast. In the area of school beautification, the Civitans set up rails in the bus parking lot to protect students from possible accidents.

President Stephen Costello talked with pride of their new service project. Once a week the members met at White Oak Community Center to tutor underprivileged children. Then on Saturday an outing was arranged to the library, Guilford Battleground, or another place of interest.

Jr. Exchange helps at workdays

This year's Junior Exchange Club continued to serve the school through beautification projects. A good part of the profit from their money-making project was spent solely for this cause.

Many types of varied programs were featured during the year. In April, club members participated in the Teen-Age Carnival to highlight the year.

Interact Club sponsors Highway Safety Week

Interact Club members promoted highway safety as one of their projects. They sponsored two highway safety weeks during which they brought a traveling show to Page.

This year the club was also able to support the foreign exchange student, Rick Gasteen from Australia.

Members of the club were also kept busy by preparing for the Interact State Convention that was held in Greensboro this year.

As one of the final projects of the year, the Interact Club presented to Page a glass case in which to keep the wooden Pirate.

Junior Optimists sell key rings

In its third organized year at Page, the Junior Optimist Club joined other established service clubs in numerous activities. Early in the year, club members took on the task of painting the trash cans placed around the school.

Active in the school beautification program, the club adopted maintenance of a plot of the grounds as another project. This included planting grass and cleaning the area.

The club's fund-raising project was the sale of key rings.

Active OHJ's show their spirit by decorating football stadium

Various new projects were added to the agenda of the O'Henry Juniors this year. Their first big undertaking of the year was decorating the stadium for each of Page's home football games.

One Saturday of each month was devoted to providing recreation for underpriveleged children in a program called Project Sharp.

Funds for the club's projects were raised by co-sponsoring a Faculty Basketball Game between Page and Grimsley with the Grimsley Key Club.

By the initiation of a Point System, the members were encouraged to work harder than ever. Members participated in beautification workdays and fund-raising drives throughout the year and were constantly active in their service to school and community.

Squads strive to eliminate confusion in school

With the expansion of Page's enrollment this year, the squads were confronted with new problems and duties. Under the competent direction of Steve Sharpe, assisted by Ed Galloway, the squads were successful in their endeavor to control the traffic at Page.

Their new duties included restraining line-breakers in the cafeteria line, and patrolling the parking lot during pep rallies and assemblies.

As in the past, the squads supervised and directed the traffic in the halls. This year, however, they were easily identified by arm bands.

visits Six Flags Over Texas and New Orleans

Highlighting the year's choir activities was a trip to the Hemis-Fair in San Antonio, Texas, during the summer of 1968. Buses provided the transportation, and tours were given of major historical sites. The choir also performed at the Southeastern Division of Music Educators' National Conference in Mobile, Alabama, which was held April 16.

First on the agenda of regular choir activities was the fifth annual joint concert with the Smith Choir, which was given in October. Another major concert was the annual Christmas concert, and various other performances were given throughout the year.

Daily choruses train singers and develop voices

Organized for the purpose of training singers to become future choir members, an advanced chorus was introduced at Page. Along with the members of the girls' and mixed choruses, they rehearsed daily and gave several performances throughout the year. In the spring all choruses entered the Annual District Choral Contest.

The annual candy sale provided funds for projects and united the spirit among the choral groups.

Band performs at Guilford College homecoming

Page High School was well represented this year by the fine band. A varied schedule of events highlighted the activities of the band. During the fall season, the Marching Pirates participated in the Guilford College homecoming festivities. Then in the winter, the band marched in the annual Christmas Parade.

The Marching Pirates were also a familiar sight to Page students. Football fans at home games were all fortunate in hearing the band perform during halftime proceedings of the football games.

An out-growth of the Marching Pirates was the Pep Band. This group helped to arouse the spirit of the student body during pep rallies. The Pep Band also performed at Victory Flag raisings.

The Symphony Band also had a wide field of playing engagements for the year.

The Music Man highlights Drama Club's events

Before a Music Man performance, Frank Smith waits patiently while his make-up is applied.

With The Music Man as their first production, the Drama Club started the school year ambitiously. Under the joint direction of both the Music and Drama Departments, the musical comedy was produced just before Thanksgiving.

Later in the year a three-act comedy was produced and also three one-act plays for district competition. Miss Martha Morris, this year's new Drama Club advisor, aided the members greatly in choosing, directing, and producing the plays.

Various projects of the year were the responsibility of the club officers, including such things as make-up demonstrations, guest speakers, and a drama workshop in Chapel Hill.

Many innovations aided the smooth running of the Drama Club, including an updated club charter and the substitution of cheesecloth for canvas in the making of flats for the productions.

Each of these activities required the interest and participation of the Drama Club as a whole.

Elections stir up interest of History Club

National and local elections were the basis for several interesting and enjoyable activities carried on by the History Club. As a preliminary program to the election, the wives of two local candidates were featured in an address to the club. The club then sponsored a mock election which was conducted in the history classes.

In order to promote interest in the study of history, many educational programs were offered by the club, including a talk by a foreign missionary and foreign students. Other meetings of interest were held to help stimulate knowledge of current affairs and world events,and to help understand other people and their traditions.

GAA takes part in extramurals

Page's Girls' Athletic Association's fall activities included sponsoring a volleyball playday and participating in several extramural games.

In early November, a field hockey match was held with Dudley. There, as in all endeavors, GAA displayed superior athletic ability as well as outstanding sportsmanship.

Around Christmas, GAA had a party with Smith High School's GAA. The sale of doughnuts proved successful as GAA's money-making project.

The girls' hard work and cooperative spirit was rewarded with a beach trip at the end of the year.

International dinner is attended by French Club

This year, The French Club (Le Cercle Francais) had more members to attend their scheduled meeting.

Miss Lawson, a French teacher at Page, chaperoned a group of Page students to Europe last summer. At the first club meeting, slides of their trip were shown.

As was tradition, the club showed a French film with English sub-titles at one of their meetings.

Another highlight of the year was holding an International Club Dinner.

Christmas fiesta is celebrated by Spanish Club

OFFICERS. Melissa McCoy, vice-president; Rita Stroud, treasurer; Linda McCandless, secretary; Denise Collins, president.

Spanish Club started its year by having a visitor from Madrid, Spain, Senora de Lagos, come to a meeting dressed in native clothes to sing native songs.

At a Christmas party with traditional foods, they had a Pinata which they broke for added enjoyment.

When the foreign exchange students visited Page, the South Americans came to tell about their life.

Denise Collins discusses Español with club advisor Miss Brunnemer.

ARC has get-acquainted party

The American Red Cross began its year with a get-acquainted party for teachers and students new to Page. They also visited Murdock, a school for the retarded, and sent it small gifts throughout the year. Another service of the ARC was the Friendly Visitor Program in which members went in pairs to visit shut-ins in Greensboro. ARC members collected money in each homeroom to finance their activities.

FSA members assist faculty and clubs at school

Future Secretaries Association members typed papers for the faculty and school clubs at a reasonable price. This was a great help to the teachers of Page.

To understand the many responsibilities of being a secretary and to stimulate the many interests in the secretarial profession was the purpose of this club.

Qualifications for being a member of FSA were that a person must have above average grades, an interest in the secretarial field, and a high character.

Through the efforts of the club's advisors and members, FSA has come to be known more as an honorary society than as a regular service club organization here at Page.

OFFICERS. First row: Gail Pope, vice-president; Susan Dixon, secretary. Second row: Debbie Griffin, treasurer; Joan Silver, president.

FSA members Susan Dixon and Mary Jane Friess keep busy seventh period by typing for teachers and clubs.

DECA members participate in work-

OFFICERS. Patricia Rayle, secretary; Chris Wood, president; Annette Carchetti, treasurer.

DECA club membership was open to any student considering a career in the marketing or merchandise distribution areas of business.

These students took courses which prepared them for their planned business fields, and participated in the work-study program which allowed them to attend classes for part of the day and take a job on a part-time basis.

Christmas project aids underprivileged children

Under the direction of Mrs. Spillman, VICA students enjoyed another productive year. VICA students sold soap for their fund-raising project, and they made a nice profit of over a hundred dollars.

For their Christmas project, they decided to give gifts to the children at such places as the Elon Orphanage Home or the Murdock Homes

VICA entered many contests involving chapter activities, such as one concerning a safety project. On February 1, they attended a regional meeting at North Wilkesboro. They also teamed up with DECA and COO to give an assembly in the spring.

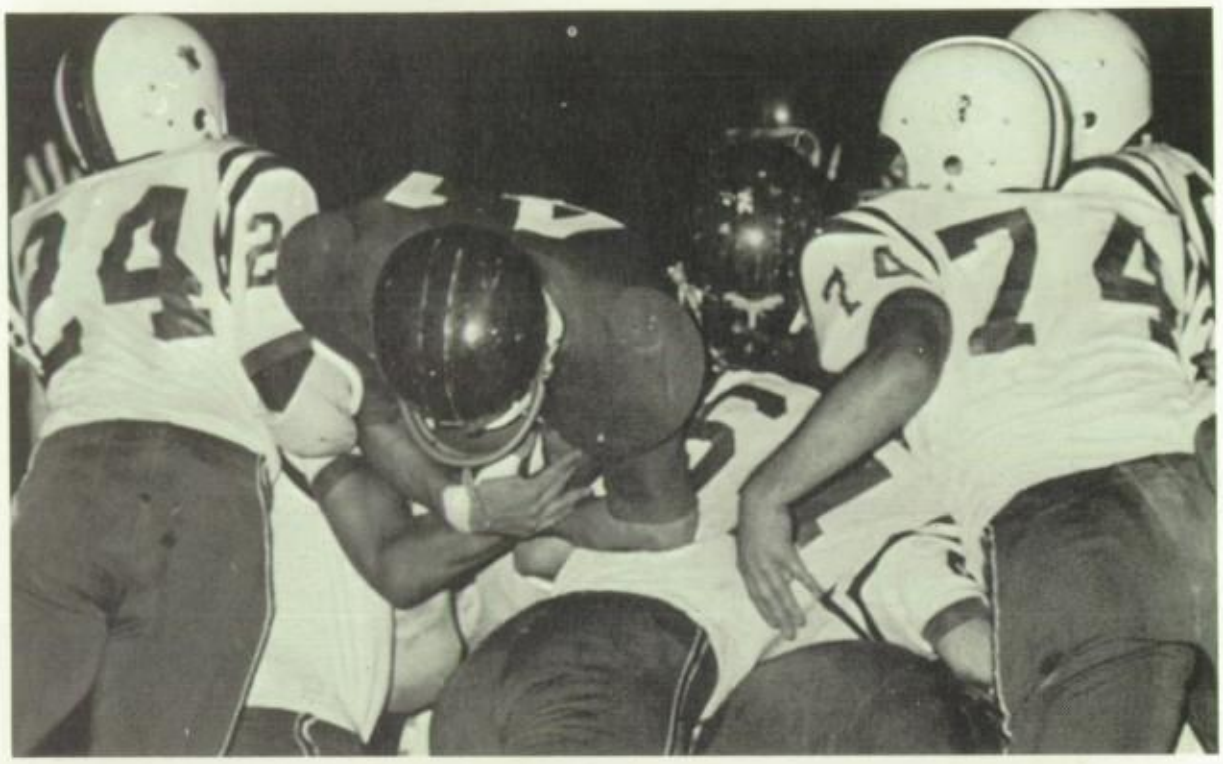
With a new addition to the football squad, Head Coach Steve Yates, the Pirates ended a tough season with a 4-5-1 record. The Pirates' first win came when they played Central High School at High Point and defeated the Bison 7-0.

Although the traditional clash with the Grimsley Whirlies, Page's cross-town rivals, ended in a 6-6 tie, the spirited student body and determined football squad made sure the Whirlies knew they had played the mighty Page Pirates.

Page received her biggest victory margins when she defeated East Forsyth 33-6 in the Homecoming game, and during the last game of the season when she beat Dudley 27-0.

Al Powell (38) breaks through the opposing defensive line.



Hugh Myrick (41), holding tightly to the ball, plunges over the goal line.

33-6 for homecoming victory

lead Pirates in successful year

Page Pirates, led by new Head Coach Mac Morris and Assistant Coach Jim Long, began the season with three lettermen, three prospects from Notre Dame, and several possible starters from the jayvee team.

Co-captains Eddie Purgason and Dick Curran led the team with Curran as high scorer. Outstanding on defense were Sophomore Ray Harrison and Junior Ernie McLean.

Adding to the strength of the Pirates were the full court press and the fast break. The team had a tough schedule, and despite its defeats, enjoyed a successful season.

JV's quickness plays a part in many victories

The junior varsity basketball team, under the leadership of Coach Dwight Bartlett, finished the season with a good overall record.

The enthusiasm and determination of the team, as well as the support of the student body, contributed to the success of the Baby Bucs.

With Robert Sanders as leading scorer, and Kermit Morehead and Chris Lowe as the defensive specialists, the JV's are sure to furnish fine material for next year's varsity team. Other outstanding players were Bill Kent and Jamie Thomas.

Varsity squad compiles 10-8 record for season

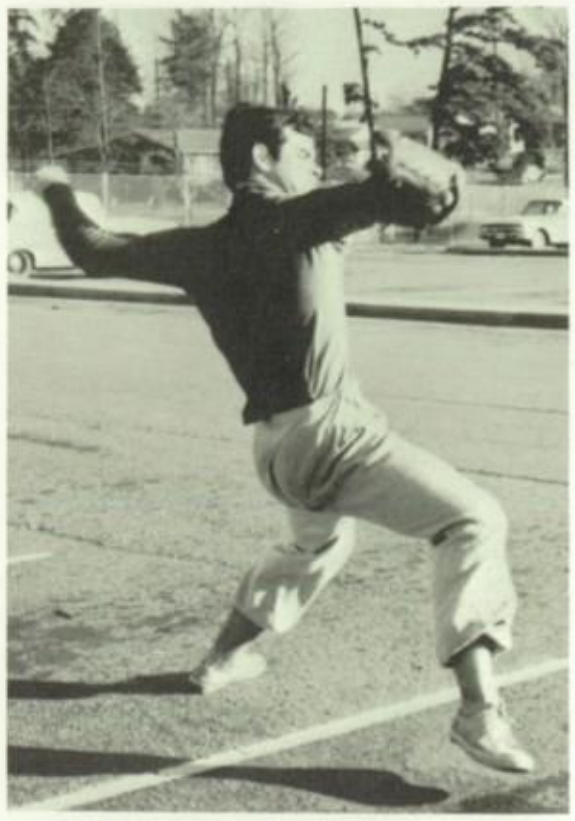
Last spring, a 10-8 overall record was compiled by the varsity team under the leadership of Coach Phillips. Although many key players were lost to graduation, the Pirates were aided by the addition of several competent players who came up from the JV squad.

Page finished conference play for the season with a 7-6 record, as they faced stiff competion in league play. Two conference losses were extremely close, including a 1-0 loss to Grimsley, and 3-2 deficit to Smith.

The Pirates found their hitting touch on several occasions, as they dumped Dudley twice: 17-1 and 13-1. Gary Martin led the team in hitting, while Jon Medley proved to be a valuable outfielder.



Pitcher Jerald Campbell warms up his strong throwing arm.

Bill Russell (30) scores in a game against Smith.

JV's improve their hitting for fine season

Coach David Odom's baseball squad finished the season with a 10-10 record. Although the Baby Bucs' offensive play was improved, their defense continued to be a weak point, as they trailed their opponents in several margins.

Mike Kivett and Gary Thomas were standouts on the JV team. Thomas, in addition to being a fine pitcher, was the leading hitter for the Baby Bucs. Kivett also served as a leading pitcher.

Talented swimmers and able coaches led the Page swimming team to a highly successful season. Team practices were held at Fairview Recreation Center at 6:30 A.M. daily, in preparation for future events.

Several fine lettermen returned to pace the team to an impressive record. Mark Johnson was a standout in the breast stroke, as he unofficially broke the state record in a meet at Chapel Hill.

Coaches Bob Phillips and Wade Franklin guided the team to many fine victories against tough competition. Among some of the wins were those over Smith, by a 73-99 score, and a victory over Rose of Greenville, N.C.

Page's wrestling team, coached by Mr. Fredrick and assisted by Mr. Richardson, completed a fantastic undefeated season.

Such "old pros" as Captain Barry Johnson and Senior Mike Brewer introduced the art of wrestling to the new sophomores.

Many hours of dedicated practice, both after school and on Saturdays, produced a well-deserved 17-0 record. This year the student body climaxed its wrestling campaign with a turnout of two hundred and fifty students at the Grimsley match.

Page's wrestlers went on to place well in the sectionals and the state tournament.

Cross Country defeats Grimsley with perfect score

Bystanders watch Alan Hartsook as he runs by them.

Unbeaten in conference play, the Cross Country Team had a successful year. The season was climaxed by two main events, a victory at the Wake Forest Invitational and achieving a perfect score against archrival Grimsley.

Practicing every day after school got them in shape for the 2.2 mile run in competition. This effort enabled them to win the conference meet for the third year in a row.

Ken Bowen paces himself for the long run ahead.

Track team finishes third in conference meet

Outstanding players led this year's track team to a highly successful season. Ben Toler proved to be valuable in the high hurdles as he became conference champion. Harold Fuller and Steve Molodet also helped to pace Page to third place in the conference meet.

Coaches were highly confident about the success of next year's team which will have the benefit of a new track and several outstanding players.

Page's largest class arrived with many fears and anticipations about high school life. There was a sense of unity and identity, of shared traditions and experiences, at the end of the year.

Sophomore class success began with the election of Charlie Barrier as class president. Many money-making ideas were considered, but again the "World's Finest Chocolate" was sold in hopes of a substantial profit.

Class members then began to take active roles in the JV Pep Committee and in many service and academic clubs. As a result of their determination, the class became a much needed part of Page.

In the fall the Juniors returned to Page with an air of confidence. They were no longer struggling Sophomores, but they had not yet attained seniority.

As a project for the year, they undertook the selling of peanut brittle which proved to be a big success, and greatly increased the Junior Class Treasury.

The year was made distinct with the agony of PSAT's and SAT's and the ecestasy of the new Page High School class rings.

And, as the Juniors left in the spring, they looked toward the future as a chance to live up to and surpass the accomplishments of their predecessors.

Kathy Payne completes her council report for a homeroom meeting.

Thoughts of Senior Class turn toward graduation

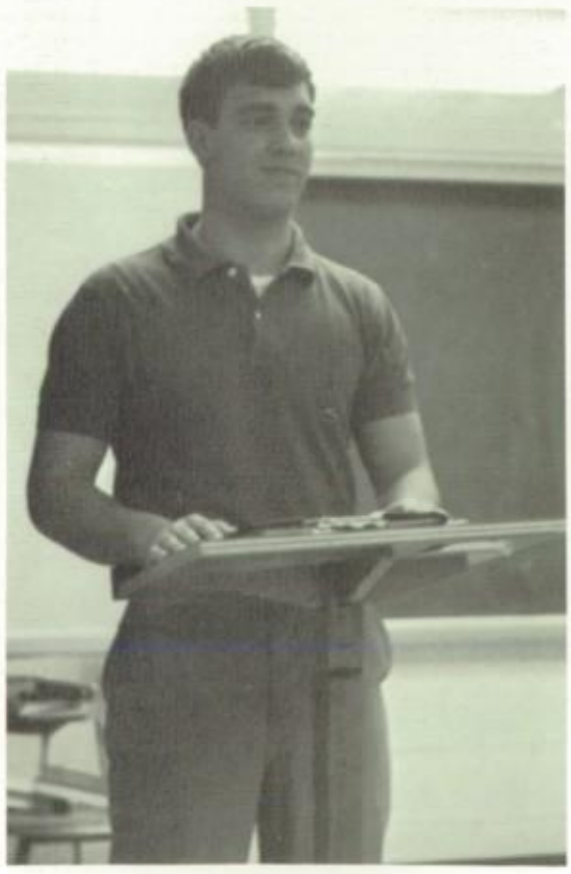
SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS. Mickey Block, treasurer; Robin Zalkin, secretary; Dickie Reece, vice-president; Ed Galloway, president.

As the Seniors experienced their last year of high school, such things as basketball games, open houses, and the alma mater took on special meaning.

Under the leadership of capable class officers, the Seniors decided on their class project to raise money for the class gift to the school.

Filling out college applications, applying for jobs, and measuring for caps and gowns were all a part of the senior year.

After Graduation night the members of the 1969 Senior Class dispersed--each going his own way.



President Garth Miller looks pleased at a new suggestion from council.

or your tuition refunded

without sacrificing comprehension or pleasure

GUARANTEE

We guarantee to refund the entire tuition of any graduate who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency includes both speed and comprehension.

Students successfully completing the course become Lifetime Members of the Evelyn Wood READING DYNAMICS INSTITUTE and are welcomed to return at no additional cost for workshops and repeat courses to increase even further their reading speed and comprehension.

Reading Dynamics is the most fantastic course ever geared to the time-limited future. It cuts study time in half by increased comprehension and unbelievable speed. This method works with light or deep reading, English or foreign languages.

Carol Perkerson

Reading Dynamics has developed a fascinating new technique for reading. Not only can a graduate from this course read faster, but also more comprehensively. Once this technique is developed, it is invaluable in study and leisure reading.

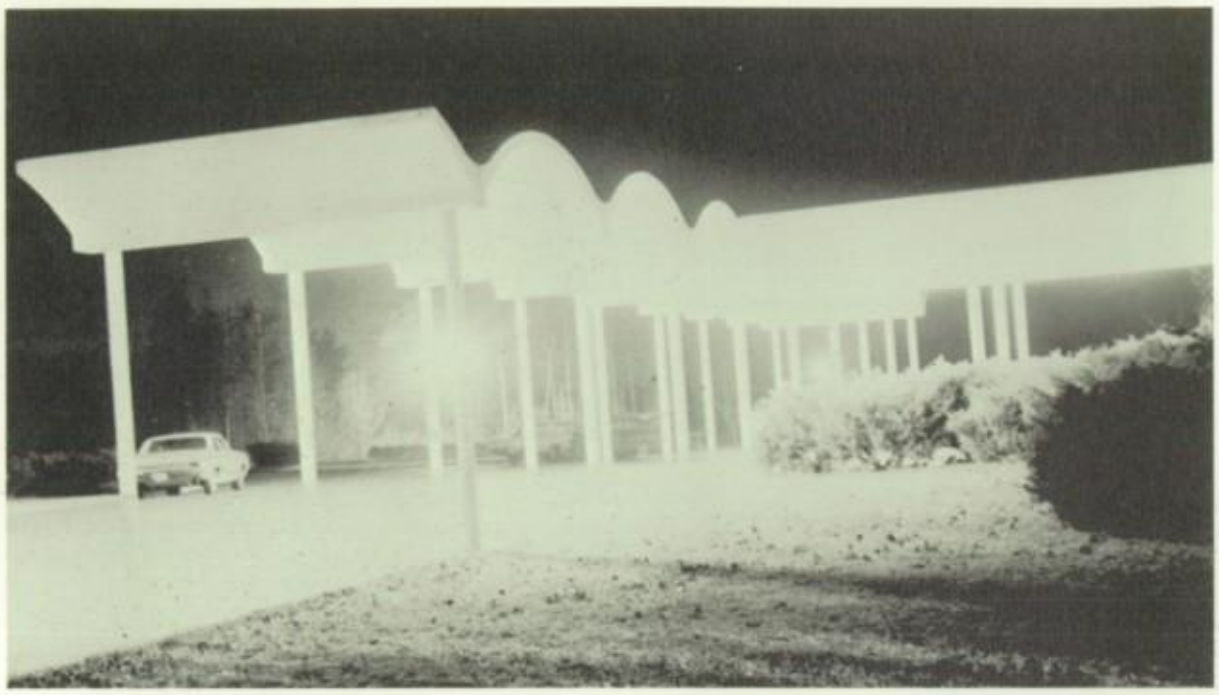
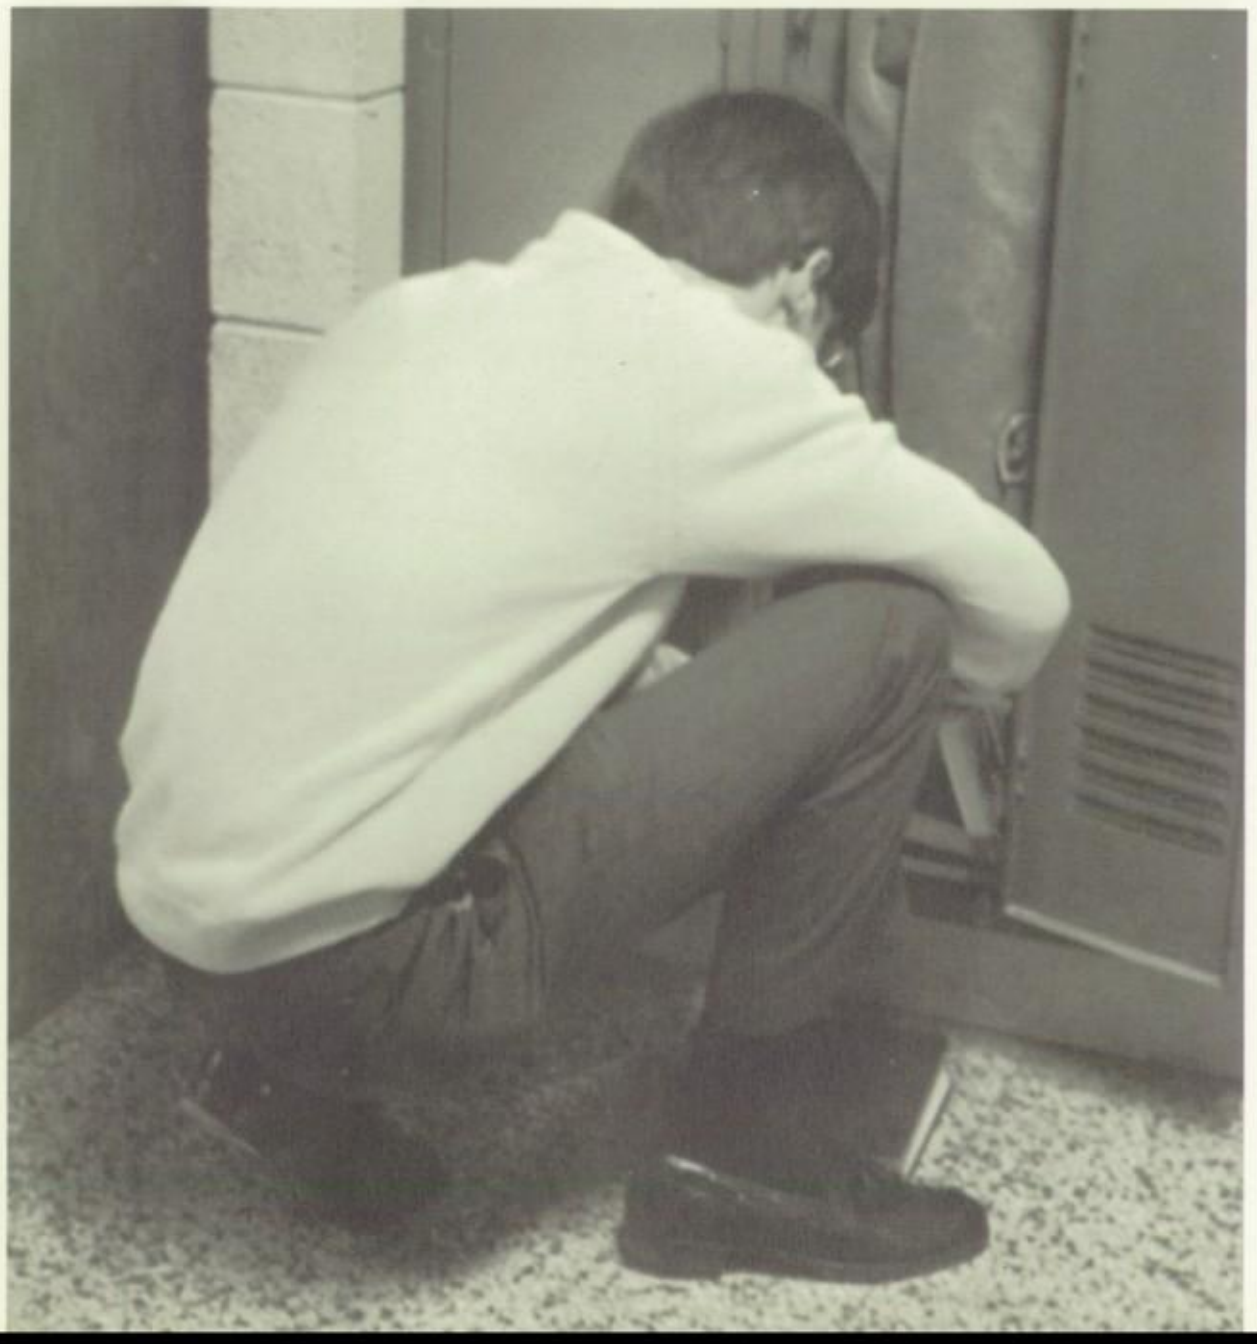
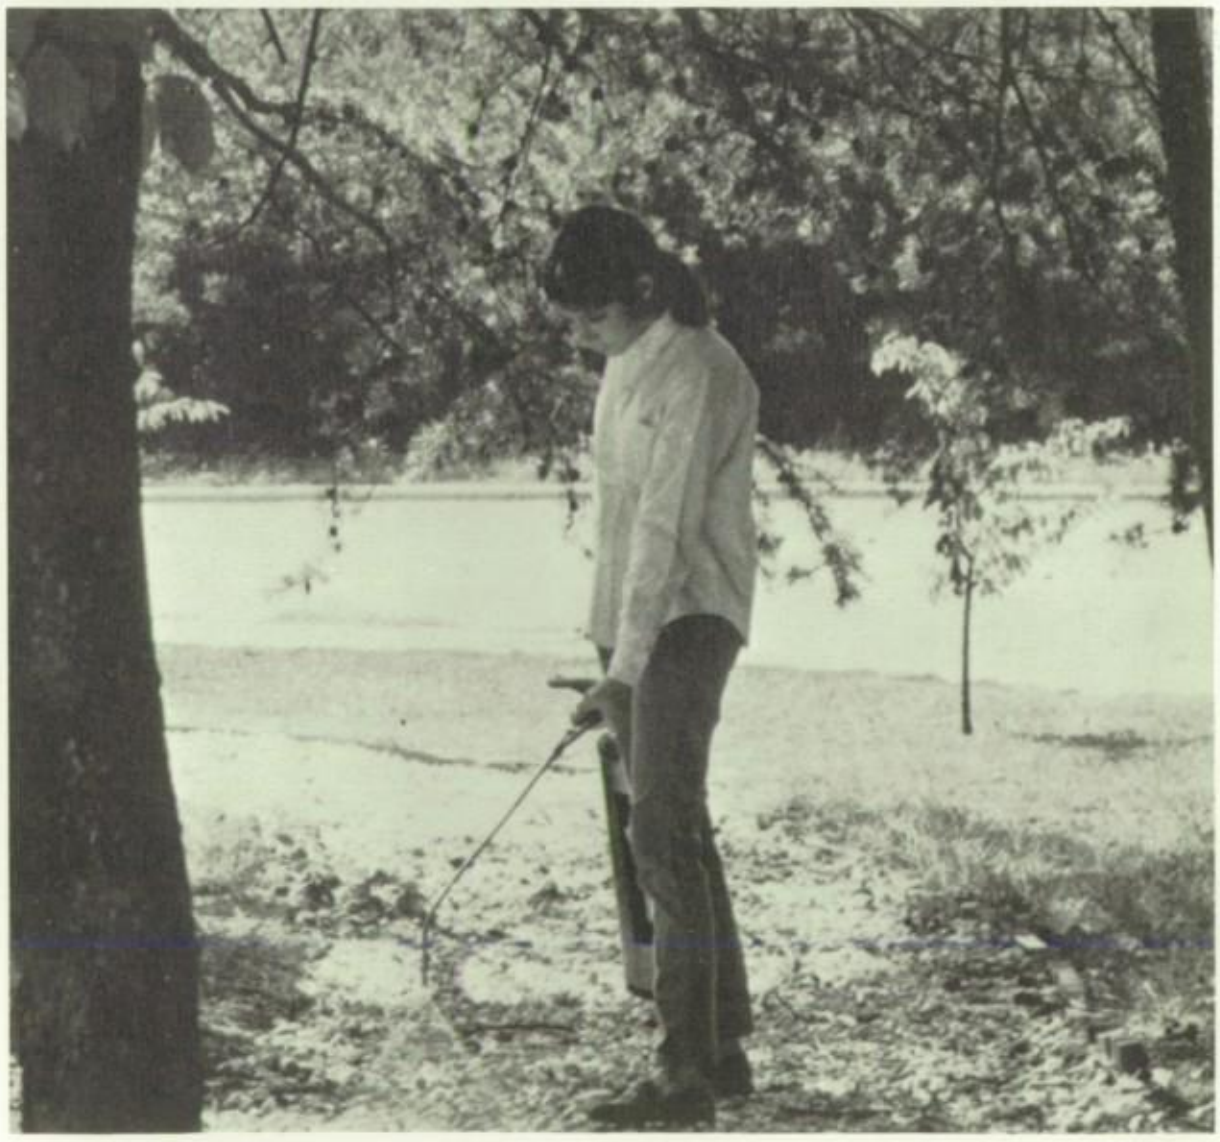
Conclusion

The conclusion of another year . . . students remembering their achievements and failures . . . seniors anticipating graduation and summer jobs . . . sophomores and juniors preparing to gain leadership in the fall . . . each looking forward to new experiences in the coming year.

The close of school . . . last minute cleaning of cluttered lockers . . . seniors preparing for their last high school prom . . . final awards presented for outstanding contributions to Page . . . students sitting peacefully as they think of the past year . . . or plan for the future.







Contented students . . . the relief of pressure from final exams . . . the realization by students that they have done their best . . . the peaceful beauty of newly bloomed flowers . . . the beginning of a restful summer . . . the end of another school year.

Letter from the Editor

As the year comes to an end, the memories of the 1969 school year have been compiled to form the Page Buccaneer. I would like to thank all those who contributed their time and cooperation in publishing this 1969 edition of the Buccaneer.

To Mrs. Walker, Mr. Goldston, and Hunter Publishing Co. for their help and cooperation . . . To Mr. Atkinson and the Greensboro newspapers for their much needed pictures . . . To the businesses of Greensboro for their financial support . . . To Mrs. Hunt for her able supervision of the business staff . . . To the business staff for their capable management of the yearbook and their much needed help with the general work . . . To the entire yearbook staff for spending many extra afternoons working on pressing deadlines, and for their invaluable contributions and unselfish cooperation . . . To the Page student body for giving us the encouragement and support that was necessary . . . and especially to Mrs. Sams for her invaluable guidance and never ending patience—for without her leadership this publication would not be possible.

favorable. But who the ---- cares. This summer in between your summer jobs in and out of the city, we will have to continue our chapters of hell raising fun. Maybe I'll let you soak up with a Jew and his religiously fermented grapes. You understand that you Baptists must stay informed. I realized that for the past few minutes that I've been struggling with either my handwriting (I was always consistent on writing grades in elementary school with a D!) or the content. In either event, I come to the conclusion that if you have gotten this far, you are a brave, strong, and daring individual. But I also realize that every man, no matter how great, can only take so much. In your case I should never have started! There is no effective way I can conclude this book when the story continues to unfold new and exciting dripping drama. So I won't.

Love always,
Cathy Rogers

Dear Sammy,

Life is so much fun. I never realized how lucky I am. You have contributed loads to my life this year. They say, always live for the present, not the future and past, What's done is done. But memory, too, can be beneficial in one's life. It has been for me. Just think of all the great, average, and dumpy things we've done. That Student Council film - The Conglamoration. Bury Apathy, Revive Spirit. You know, we made the world's greatest team. I don't really think I would have done as much as I did without you, Sammy. Then of course we followed the Get Involved theme with our California grapes. That little Sprite of yours sure can put the road and everything else behind it in a hurry. By the way, I hope the tires on that car were good 'cause we sure would have been hurting pretty bad around the corners in Irving Park. You will never believe where I am right now. The owner of the Carolina Camera Center, where we rushed into panick strickened, is seven boys pouring over a poker game. Larry and I came over Mr. Rouch. I'm sitting on a couch in their downstairs den watching after Games. Back to memories. You know, I sure am glad you will be in Greensboro next year. I'm going to need you a great deal for laughter and support! We passed through the student handbook pretty quickly. Then of course, the computer dance (lacking one computer) going one hell of a lot of fun. The decorum was great. Again team work. The highlight of the year - the Pirate Ball. We ran that dance practically single-handed. I have never had so much fun in my life. (also I've never been so exhausted after any other weekend.) Sammy, you know, if you want to have fun with a girl, pick on one about your size. That Brown-hill's Broad was towering over you by a foot. I wish we could have been in New York City's rush hour with her. Can you imagine what some of those remarks would have been? This Honor Society bit has got to be the biggest frame-up ever. Skipping out of Council - what would Gwendalyn Dickens Joyner think - I shutter to think. I don't it would be too

Crescat Scientia!

You have been a delightful ——
"personality" to have in class. I feel that you have much potential - and many good things will come your way - Carpe diem - and good luck -

Sincerely
C McIver

ED GOLDSTON, SILER CITY, N. C.

Russ Sam,

We've really had a blast this year in Latin. I don't know what we would have done without each other in this class! Every time you aren't there I just about go out of my mind. Don't you just love Auntie Ann?

Look we're going to have to get together this summer. I'll come to Long Beach and then to college (Caswell) and I know all I'll have to do is ask the first person I see where Sam Leonard is and I'll find you very fast. Your personality attracts anyone with a sense of humor at all.

I hope you and Anita can get together at the beach again and bring back old memories.

Listen Sammy, I mean we have got to get together a lot of weekends next year when I'm home. I'll write you at your house and when I come home I'll come see you. Maybe you can even come up skiing one weekend.

Remember the Roman Banquet in our togas? I didn't think I'd ever stop laughing!

Well Sam, I guess I better stop now, but remember "I'll never stop loving you!" You are undoubtedly the greatest boy who ever lived!
